Introducing Expert Testimony and Rule 702 Litigator Series

Expert Testimony and Rule 702 Litigator Series is a comprehensive guide that provides litigators with the knowledge and skills necessary to master the use of expert testimony. Written by leading experts in the field, this series offers practical advice, real-world examples, and in-depth analysis of the key issues surrounding expert testimony.

Part 1: The Daubert Standard

The first installment of this series delves into the seminal case of Daubert v. Merrell Dow Pharmaceuticals, which established the framework for the admissibility of expert testimony. The Daubert standard requires that expert testimony be based on reliable and scientifically valid methods, and that the expert be qualified to testify on the subject matter.

Part 2: Frye and Other Evidentiary Standards

While Daubert is the predominant standard for the admissibility of expert testimony, there are a number of other jurisdictions that apply different standards, such as the Frye test. This part of the series examines these alternative standards and provides guidance on how to navigate the evidentiary requirements in various jurisdictions.

Part 3: Selecting and Retaining an Expert

Choosing the right expert can be crucial to the success of your case. This part of the series offers practical advice on how to identify, retain, and manage expert witnesses, including tips on conducting effective interviews and negotiating fees.

Part 4: Discover and Depose the Opposition's Expert

Once you have selected your own expert, you need to be prepared to address the testimony of the opposing party's expert. This part of the series provides a roadmap for effectively deposing opposing experts, ensuring that you have the information you need to impeach their credibility and undermine their testimony.

Part 5: Presenting Expert Testimony

Presenting expert testimony effectively requires a combination of legal acumen and persuasive storytelling. This part of the series provides step-by-step guidance on how to prepare for expert testimony, including how to frame your questions, handle objections, and present exhibits to maximize impact.

Expert Testimony and Rule 702 Litigator Series is an essential resource for litigators who want to master the use of expert testimony to win their cases. This comprehensive guide provides a deep understanding of the applicable rules and procedures, as well as practical advice and real-world examples that will help you build a strong case and cross-examine opposing experts with confidence.
